

VNS Health Expands Hospice Education for Underserved Asian Americans

VNS Health has launched educational campaigns centered around informing local Asian American communities about the benefits of hospice care. Teresa Lin, VP of cultural market development oversees, who is overseeing the campaigns, discusses the opportunities and challenges VNS Health currently faces when educating Asian Americans communities about hospice.

Read the full article here.